HUERTA MUST TELL SILLIMAN'S FATE-U.S.

Emphatic Language Used in Inquiring About Saltillo Consul.

MAY MEAN ACTION

Mediation Meetings Postponed Until Wednesday for Huerta Envoys.

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—A preliminary demand couched in emphatic language was today sent to Huerta. The administration wants to know the whereabouts of James Silliman, Consul at Saltillo, and Private Parks, who rode through the lines at Vera Cruz last week. The fate of Sutton, the Washington Post photographer, and Dorster, a newspaper correspondent are also included in the inquiry.

"There have been no troop movements," said Secretary of War Garrison, but with supplies only two days distant at Galveston, troops could easily be put in motion. Army men expect if it develops as the administration fears, that Silliman was murdered, or that Parks was shot with Huerta's consent, that they will see active service.

Should the Mexican delegates insist that the only question at issue is the Tampico incident it will stop mediation at the outset.

It is reported that the administration will not interfere with the importation of arms by the rebels through Tampico. Possibly the embargo on shipments across the Texas border will also be lifted.

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—The mediation conferences at Niagara Falls were today postponed from Monday until Wednesday upon the request of the Brazilian Ambassador. A desire not to rush the Huerta delegates is believed to be the basis for this action. Huerta's representatives will arrive tomorrow afternoon.

By United Press.
MEXICO, May 15.—Actual fighting began today for the possession of Saltillo. General Villa's advance guard encountered the Federal outposts north of Saltillo. After an hour's engagement, the Federals withdrew. General Villa's main Torreón division, consisting of 15,000 men, began leaving Paredon, which is forty miles from Saltillo. They are marching overland. The rebel leader is withholding information regarding their route.

100 GIRLS IN PAGEANT

Christian College Celebrates May Day, Crowning Miss Hazel Davies.

"Beautiful" was the general comment of those who witnessed the May pageant given by Christian College girls on the college campus last night. There was not a break in the program, in which more than 100 girls took part.

The court where the procession took place was brilliantly lighted with electric lights from the main college entrance to the green throne of the queen, which was built to form a canopy.

An overture was played by the orchestra, then the glee club chorus sang a greeting song. The procession of thirty girls carrying Japanese lanterns, the May pole dancers, seniors, dancing girls in costume, flower girls, queen and attendants, headed by the chorus, marched from the college.

A Spotlight Was Thrown Upon Them
The queen, Miss Hazel Davies, a junior in the college department, was crowned at the foot of the throne by two seniors while the chorus sang the May Day song.

From her throne the queen witnessed the spectacular performances on the green. Twenty-four girls dressed in white and wearing green, pink and yellow sashes wound the Maypole. The chorus sang from the doorway and the program closed with a series of tableaux by ten girls in pink costumes.

The pageant was arranged and carried out by Mrs. Marion W. Hertz, and Miss Emile Gehring had charge of the chorus. Christian College alumnae sent floral gifts.

SCABBARD INITIATED MEN ON GOLF LINKS

A. W. Roffe and Sam Ayres Taken Into Fraternity by Visiting Delegates.

WILL DANCE TONIGHT

National Convention Here Will Close With Banquet Tomorrow Night.

Any adventurous one who may have been attracted by the mysterious light on the golf links last night would probably have unusual things to tell today. Then again he may have disappeared into the night—his story going with him.

Had he been fortunate enough to come away, he would tell you of a military camp at rest supposedly at night. Tents were pitched, and soldiers lay on the ground smoking and telling what they would do to "those Mexicans." A camp fire blazed defying the enemy's approach.

This was the initial scene of the Scabbard and Blade, military fraternity, whose national convention opened yesterday afternoon in Columbia. Sam Ayres, Jr., second lieutenant in the University Cadet corps, and A. W. Roffe, first lieutenant, were initiated. Sixteen delegates attended the initiation.

The national convention will be over tomorrow night. Members from nine universities are representing the fraternities of these universities. A dance will be given tonight at the Virginia Tea Room. Tomorrow morning Major A. Linxwiler of Jefferson City will inspect the cadet regiments. This will be the state inspection.

The convention will close with a dinner at the Virginia Tea Room tomorrow night, when Major Linxwiler will be initiated as honorary member of the Scabbard and Blade fraternity.

ORGANIZER SPOKE TO STRIKERS

Dance Will Be Given Tonight to Help Treasury.

C. P. Dean, organizer of the United Shoe Workers of America spoke to about two hundred and fifty people at a mass meeting of the striking workmen of the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company at the old Methodist Church last night. He stated that the strikers do not want official recognition of their organization, but do want to deal directly with their employers through committees from their departments.

Mr. Dean left again for St. Louis without accomplishing anything definite toward a settlement of the strike. At the meeting last night he asked for the opinions of the strikers toward the union and answered all questions. Most of those who attended the meeting were workers at the shoe factory.

The striking workmen are giving a dance and ice cream supper tonight in the old Methodist Church, the proceeds of which will go into the treasury of the union. A regular meeting was held in their headquarters this morning.

RETAIL MERCHANTS MEET

Business Men Accept Invitation to Attend Journalism Lecture.

The Retail Merchants' Association at their meeting last night discussed ways and means of protecting the retailer end at the same time aiding the consumer. Reports were heard from various committees.

The investigation of the sale of oil and other commodities by transient persons direct to the consumer from railroad cars showed that the public was often imposed upon. Efforts will be made by the association in the future to stop this practice.

The invitation from the School of Journalism to the Columbia merchants to attend the address of W. J. Pilkington, the "Bible Sunday" of the commercial world, and editor of the Merchants Trade Journal of Des Moines, Iowa was accepted. The association urged all merchants to attend not only Mr. Pilkington's address but all of the talks that will be given Journalism Week.

WHO'S WHO Journalism Week

VIII.—Charles Nagel.

Charles Nagel of St. Louis, who speaks here Journalism Week, has been doing things in politics ever since he was a small boy. He began when he was 14 years old by accompanying his father in a migration from Austin County, Texas, on account of political convictions.

After some months of travel they reached Monterey, Mexico, proceeded from there to Mantamoras, finally boarded a sailing ship at the mouth of the Rio Grande, and after a three weeks' trip landed in New York and came on to St. Louis, Nagel's home, ever since.

Young Nagel attended a German private school for one year, was graduated from the St. Louis High School in 1868 and from the St. Louis Law School in 1872. He attended the University of Berlin in Germany from 1872 to 1873, returning to St. Louis to practice law.

Through his political activities Mr. Nagel has collected a number of flattering offices. He was a member of the Missouri Legislature in 1881 and 1882, president of the city council of St. Louis from 1893 to 1897, and capped the climax by being Secretary of Commerce and Labor in President Taft's cabinet from 1909 to 1913.

Mr. Nagel has been a member of the faculty of the St. Louis Law School for twenty four years.

BRITISH POLO FANS LOSE HOPE

Captain Lockett Will Not Be Able to Play Against America.

VICTOR, Colo., May 15.—Business claim to be without cheer or hope over their chances of turning tables on America in the International Polo Cup series next month at Meadowbrook. The reason for the gloom is that Captain Vivian Lockett will not be at No. 3 position when the fracas opens.

It was the dashing, slashing defense and attack of Lockett who met every American, catapulting attack with the same sort of goods, that stopped the Big Four temporarily on several occasions last year and made them begin all over again. It was Lockett's work more than the work of any two men on the English team which kept the American score down and the English tally up. To replace Lockett the invaders will either have Lord Wodehouse or Lord Wimborne. Both are great players, but neither can class with Lockett.

M. U. TIES KANSAS, 4 TO 4, IN 11 INNINGS

First Game of Series a Pitchers' Battle Between Angerer and Bishop.

FIELDING IS RAGGED

Tiger Rally Evens Up Game in Sixth—Seventeen Jayhawkers Fan.

It was 6:55 o'clock last night before an eleven-inning 4 to 4 game of baseball between Kansas and Missouri played on Rollins Field was called by the umpire. And the rooters, practically everyone, unmindful of supper, after eleven innings were still yelling with hoarse voices for the Tigers to make the one needed run when the game was stopped on account of darkness.

The game from the first was a battle between the pitchers, Angerer for Missouri and Bishop for Kansas. Fifty men faced Angerer. Thirty-nine Tigers came to bat. Angerer struck out seven men in the first three innings. Then both sides began to hit and errors were made frequently in several of the innings. The game was "good in spots."

In the first half of the sixth inning Kansas made four runs. Missouri came to bat and made three, which added to one made in the third tied the score. Six innings followed with out a man crossing home plate safely.

A Quick Double Play.

Woolsey's catch of a pop fly after a long run behind second base, when a man was on third, and Hogg's double play by a quick throw home from first base, catching a runner, cut off scores for Kansas in the eleventh.

Missouri started the scoring. In the third inning Davis knocked a grounder to Van der Vries, shortstop. Van der Vries threw low, the ball went through Sproull, first baseman, and Davis made second base.

Angerer sacrificed Davis to third base. Hall hit to right field for two bases and Davis scored. An error, a sacrifice and a two-base hit gave the Tigers the lead.

Kansas scored in only one inning, the sixth. Bishop made first base when Palfreyman, shortstop, failed to get his slow grounder in time to catch the runner. Painter put Bishop on second by a sacrifice.

A pitched ball went low, passed Hall, catcher, and Bishop ran down to third. The inning looked as if it were over. Two men were out and Sproull, who was at bat, had two strikes and no balls called on him.

How the Four Runs Came.

Something went wrong. Angerer threw four balls and Sproull walked to first base. Smece came to bat and rapped the ball for three bases, scoring Bishop and Sproull. Davis let the ball get past him on the throw in from the outfield to catch Smece at third base. The ball struck the fence behind third base and Smece was allowed to go home because the obstruction stopped the ball.

Somers got on second when Palfreyman, shortstop, after fielding his buzzing grounder, overthrew first base. Wandell hit for three bases, scoring Somers. The score then stood Kansas 4, Missouri 1. Three errors, a walk, a sacrifice hit, a passed pitched ball and two three-base hits were responsible for the runs.

When Missouri came to bat for its half of the sixth inning, the Missouri rooters got on their feet and began yelling. Gray hit, Hogg hit, advancing Gray to second base and putting himself on first base.

Gray stole to third base when Somers, catcher, threw to first in an attempt to catch Hogg, who had a long lead toward second base. Hogg went to second on the next pitched ball.

Missouri's Turn at Scoring.

Woolsey hit a hot grounder over third base to left field. Smece, left fielder, fumbled the ball. Gray and Hogg scored and Woolsey sprinted for third base. He made third when Painter, third baseman, dropped the ball in trying to touch Woolsey out on a slide. The bleachers went wild.

Capp hit to De Longy, second baseman, who got his feet tangled up with the ball, and Woolsey went home on the error. Bishop, pitcher, stopped the hitting and the inning was over. The rooters sat down, hoarse but contented. Three errors, three hits and a stolen base had tied the score.

The game was umpired by Jack Connelly a man new to the Missouri
